

Another Heartache

Gregory Isaacs

Another heartache, another heartbreak
And all those things that
I've done to make you mine

Hoping and pretending is all that I could do
Ever since my only love is true
And in the nights I keep waiting at my door
Just to see your loving face once more

Another heartache, another heartbreak
I can't count the teardrops
I've cried since you've been gone

Now hoping and pretending is all that I could do
Ever since my only love is true
And in the nights I keep waiting at my door
Just to see your loving face once more

Another heartache, another heartbreak
I can't count the teardrops
I've cried since you've been gone