

Chemicals + Circuitry

Grendel

"The pain, so unexpected and undeserved, had for some reason cleared away the cobwebs. I realized I didn't hate the cabinet door, I hated my life - my house, my family, my backyard. Nothing would ever change; nothing new could ever be expected. It had to end, and it did. Now in the dark world where I dwell, ugly things, and surprising things, and sometimes little wondrous things, spill out in me constantly, and I can count on nothing."

Melodies resound in my brain like a drone
I've been three days awake on a shitload of coke, man
She's looking at me with an evil smile
I know that gleam in her eye and, damn, she flaunts it with style, yeah

The city, it loves you, coursing, rising
With that light from within that races straight to your brain, yeah
The city, it loves you, coursing, rising
As we're here, in the now, and pushing forwards to mayhem

Screaming harder, faster, better, louder
Screaming harder, faster, better, louder
(Screa-ming) Harder, faster, better, louder
Screaming harder, faster, better, louder
(Screa-ming) Harder, faster, better, louder
Screaming harder, faster, better, louder
(Screa-ming) Harder, faster, better, louder
Screaming harder, faster, better, louder
(Screa-ming)

Because we feel there's so much more to see
But not much left here to believe
So we all find our way in life
Through chemicals and circuitry

Because we feel there's so much more to see
But not much left here to believe
So we all find our way in life
Through chemicals and circuitry

Through chemicals and circuitry...

Rhythms, they resound in my brain in a daze
I've been four days awake and I can't feel my face, man
She's all over me with an evil smile
I know that gleam in her eye and, damn, she flaunts it with style, yeah

The city, it loves you, coursing, rising
With that light from within that races straight to your brain, yeah
The city, it loves you, coursing, rising
As we're here, in the now, and pushing forwards to mayhem

Screaming harder, faster, better, louder
Screaming harder, faster, better, louder
(Screa-ming) Harder, faster, better, louder
Screaming harder, faster, better, louder
(Screa-ming) Harder, faster, better, louder
Screaming harder, faster, better, louder
(Screa-ming) Harder, faster, better, louder
Screaming harder, faster, better, louder

(Screa-ming)

Because we feel there's so much more to see
But not much left here to believe
So we all find our way in life
Through chemicals and circuitry

Because we feel there's so much more to see
But not much left here to believe
So we all find our way in life
Through chemicals and circuitry

Through chemicals and circuitry...

(The city, it loves you, coursing, rising
With that light from within that races straight to your brain, yeah
The city, it loves you, coursing, rising
As we're here, in the now, and pushing forwards to mayhem)

(Harder, faster, better, louder
Screaming harder, faster, better, louder
Screaming harder, faster, better, louder
Screaming harder, faster, better, louder)
Through chemicals and circuitry