

Lovely Broken

Gungor

Everything is lovely, everything is bright
Everything is here because of glorious design
Everything becoming, our salvation nigh
You and I we will survive

Everything is broken, everything is pain
Everything is dark and pointless
What is there to say
Everything is empty
Everything will die
You and I

See the night
See the sunrise
See the love
See the heartbreak
You and I
We will be alright

Look at all the starving
Look at all the war
How we cut the world to pieces, tearing us apart
Look at all the mothers
Babies in their arms
Look at how they'd give their bodies just to keep them warm
Every life is taken (for another's death)
Every death is given (for another's life)
Every breath, the gift of life

See the night
See the sunrise
See the love
See the heartbreak
You and I
We will be alright