I've seen your face a thousand times Have all your stories memorized I've kissed your lips a million ways But I still love to have you around I've held you too many times to count I think I know you inside out And we're together most days But I still love to have you around You're the one I want and it's not just phase You're the one I trust, our love is the real thing Don't go away My love (my love) I want you to stay In my life Don't go away My lover (my love) I'm happiest when we spend time You're a salty water ocean wave You knock me down, you kiss my face I know the storms will always come But I still love to have you around Heaven knows what will come next So emotional, you're so complex A rollercoaster built to crash But I still love to have you around You're the one I want and it's not just phase You're the one I trust, our love is the real thing Don't go away My love (my love) I want you to stay In my life Don't go away My lover (my love) I'm happiest when we spend time (it's only you and I) It's you there when I close my eyes And you in the morning I never thought you'd still be mine Or I'd really need to have you around Don't go away My love (my love) I want you to stay In my life Don't go away My lover (my love) I need you, you're my love supply Don't go away

My love (you're my love supply)

I want you to stay

In my life (every day, every night)
Don't go away
My love (you're my love supply)
I need you, you're my love supply
