

Ground Zero

Hades

It's a shame really, that humankind cannot advance on social and civil levels as a single race with the same rampant and voracious growth of its technology.
We can create some of the most awe inspiring machines, but we're so naive in other ways that we may well wind up victims of our own knowledge one day.
That's the downside. The upside? Overpopulation problem solved.
The Downside