Hardened souls
I'm overwhelmed by the great unknown
When did everyone become so cold?
I'll try and put all of my faith in love
To wash away the greed

I never thought there was a way out
And I've tried
Until I found a way to break out
And rise up through the storm

Climbing all the way to the sun
I'm saying my goodbye's to the world
Leaving all the things that you love
Is a must just to find out who you are
I'd rather be out on my own
Than sinking deeper into a place I can't escape

Crack the mold
My frustrations growing stale and old
I can only watch the world unfold
Stuck inside their search for things of gold
That life just isn't me

I never thought there was a way out
And I've tried
Until I found a way to break out
And rise up through the storm

Climbing all the way to the sun
I'm saying my goodbye's to the world
Leaving all the things that you love
Is a must just to find out who you are
I'd rather be out on my own
Than sinking deeper into a place I can't escape

They are underexposed
Here lies their lonely story
They never change it, oh, no
Do you still feel so alone?
(Do you still feel so alone?)

Climbing all the way to the sun
I'm saying my goodbye's to the world
Leaving all the things that you love
Is a must just to find out who you are
I'd rather be out on my own
