Anything For You

Halo Friendlies

Wish I knew how to be the color blue cause it hangs around when no one else can comfort you if you want to be alone then just say so 'cause the power is yours because you took my heart and you have my soul and there's something special something great in this exchange and do you know that

I would do anything for you I would do anything for you you know I would yeah you know I would yeah you know I would yeah I would do it all for you

Summertime burned burned a hole inside your heart and winter's bite froze the feelings deep inside but I know there's something there that you can't hide it sparkles brightly forth, expands the sky and it blows my mind and do you feel it? do you feel the way I do? and do you know that

When I first knew that love could be true it raised me up from being sick and blue and you'll find, you'll see, you're fine, you'll change your mind, when life gets you down I'll be right by your side cause
