Voices

Hardline

I heard the voice of a stranger
Ringing out with a question in the undertone
I heard a voice call my name out loud
Caught me just when I thought I was alone

Can we really see the future?
Buried in the roots of seeds we sow?
All the twists and turns they try to make me crazy
Time to break the code

I can see a better future
Hiding in the things that we don't know
The unknown will never break me

I stared into the horizon
Reaching out to the place I wanted to belong
I watched the sky and for once I felt invincible
The stranger's voice ringing in my ears was like a song

Can we really see the future?
Buried in the roots of seeds we sow?
All the twists and turns they try to make me crazy
Time to break the code

I can see a better future
Hiding in the things that we don't know
The unknown will never break me

Finally there
Imagine everything I have
And all the past will see
Fading behind us

So look forward now
Open your eyes and take It in
Imagine Everything
Straight ahead

Can we really see the future?
Buried in the roots of seeds we sow?
All the twists and turns they try to make me crazy
Time to break the code

I can see a better future
Hiding in the things that we don't know
The unknown will never break me

Can we really see the future? (Honey)
Ohhh Ohhh
I can see a better future
Hiding in the things that we don't know