

Never Again

Heart in Hand

Instantly hooked,
on the whole situation and what we had.
Blind to your lies. I took you inside, and kept you as if you were mine.
It all happened so fast.

I don't know how I couldn't see past your lies and deceit. It kills me inside, to think that I let you be a part of my life.

Never again, will I put my trust in someone like you.
And never again, will I let my guard down and be so naive.
Never again, never again. I hope to never see, your face, never again.

Everything changed, in a moment and everything turned sour. Blind to your lies, this is something, I could never see? Or that I could revive.

You are nothing. You are no one.

I don't know how I couldn't see past your lies and deceit. It kills me inside, to think that I let you be a part of my life.

Never again, will I put my trust in someone like you.
And never again, will I let my guard down and be so naive.
Never again, never again. I hope to never see, your face, never again.