

Some Things Just Come Undone

Heather Nova

I took my beautiful son down to the ocean
Some things just come undone I said
It's all swirling round in me like I'm an ocean
Some things just come undone I said

I took my beautiful boy down to the ocean
Sometimes a change will come I said
His cheeks all rosy red and full of elation
Sometimes a change will come I said

I'm going to make everything ok

I took my beautiful child down to the ocean
Look up up at the sky I said
His eyes reflecting light, all full of emotion
I'm never gonna let you down, I said

I'm going to make everything ok

My child my beautiful son, I said
Some things just come undone I said
Look up up at the sky I said
Two homes are better than one, I said
My boy my beautiful son, I said
My boy my beautiful son
Should I cry or hide my emotion?
Should I cry or hide my emotion?
Which one is his salvation?

Oh my mothering side
Oh my mothering side
Oh my mothering side

I'm going to make everything ok

Some things just come undone
Two homes are better than one
Oh my beautiful son
Some things just come undone
Two homes are better than one
Oh my beautiful son
Some things just come undone
Some things just come undone
Some things just come undone yeah
Oh my beautiful son
Some things just come undone
Some things just come undone
Some things just come undone