A judge a dentist or physician

In this low society
Trade ambition for position
In this low society

Have you heard it's in the stars Next July we collide with Mars Have you heard it in the bars In this low society

No more pay and lots of leisure In this low society Low society

I'm just doing what I can
In this low society
But I'm an incidental man
In this low society

I give away what others sell The secret's yours so never tell 'Cos if you do you'll go to hell Low society

Side by side and always tired All for one and no-one hired All that's left is love inspired Low society

And when the party is complete And you're still standing on your feet The taste of victory is sweet Low society

And darling don't forget In this low society To turn off your T.V. set In this low society

The most important thing at all In this low society
Is not to stand too tall
In this low society

In this world that never learns
I can see Rome as it burns
All the passion and the power
Turns to ash within an hour
No more play and no more pleasure
In this low society
