

Tear Your Heart Out

Heaven's Basement

Feelings, hit you like a barrier
You'll never cry the same
And, you're stealing anything that you can find Something to stop your pain
Well I am two steps shy from falling apart
You've got nothing left to lose
So you shed your skin, just to lighten the load
Made it strip itself from you
You checked out too soon
I'm afraid you've made your mind up
You played the fool
But the jokes on you

Tear your heart out
and start all over again
you start all over Just wear your heart out like a tattoo on your sleeve

Wake up,
You know what's going down
You feel it in your blood
You better shape up
No one's gonna bring you round
You jumped into this blood

Well you got one more night to take it all in So it went from bad to worse and don't it hit so hard, they get under your skin Till the scratching starts to hurt

Tear your heart out
and start all over again
you start all over
Just wear your heart out
like a tattoo on your sleeve

Feelings, hit you like a barrier
You'll never cry the same
And, you're stealing anything that you can find
to stop your pain
Well I am two steps shy from falling apart
You've got nothing left to lose
So you shed your skin, just to lighten the load
Made it strip itself from you

Tear your heart out
and start all over again
you start all over
Just wear your heart out
like a tattoo on your sleeve

Tear your heart out
and start all over again
you start all over
Just wear your heart out
like a tattoo on your sleeve

Hey, Hey, Heyyyyy