

Crossing Bridges

Helena Zeťová

You set the wheels of life in motion
Taught me how to roll the dice
Said I had to cross the ocean
And that I couldn't think twice

And ever since that day you can't imagine what I've seen
I've never felt so lonely
If you ask me were I've been

I've been gone,
crossing bridges
That I never knew I could
That I never thought I would
I've been gone,
crossing bridges
Through a damp and empty grey
Just to find the light of day
Crossing bridges
Crossing bridges

I could feel the fire of anger
Rising with the pain inside
Burning through the maze of darkness
Shining on the other side

And ever since that moment
Every night's been halloween
I've been too afraid to sleep
If you ask me were I've been

Suddenly the winds are changing Suddenly the waves come crashing in
Will you be there
Waiting for me
Just to find a light of day
