

Back To Delorean

Helia

It's just when you reach the end
That you finally figure out it's late
Together we walked with no fails
I never thought alone we're frail

Our days in here are ferrying us over
While fire-storm is burning the tower
They're carving in your eyes
So white and blind

It's just when you reach the end
That you finally figure out it's late
Together we walked with no fails
I never thought alone we're frail

On knees I am, don't ignore my prophecy
Blackened by past your tears are falling
They're carving your eyes
So white and blind

It's just when you reach the end
That you finally figure out it's late
Together we walked with no fails
I never thought alone we're frail

It's just when you reach the end
That you finally figure out it's late
Together we walked with no fails
I never thought alone we're frail
And so we stopped to breathe and
Why don't you give up to lie?
Ships are pushing straight into the sea
Two wakes written on the waves
I've never thought alone we're frail!
I never thought alone we're frail!
God, I'm lost
God, I'm lost
