

Modern Roman Circus

Helker

You only trash other people's best creations
You just know how to give the thumbs down
And become the big star and new sensation
In a story where you don't fit in

You had disappointments
That made you sink into the mud

I am gonna lift the stones
Which attack me with their madness
To begin to build a new world
Where there's no place for your violence

Destroying souls, that is your outstanding business
And the gossip makes you feel intense
You take the chance and you get into our minds
And promoting a quite vulgar taste

You have bitter feelings
That made you sink into the mud

I am gonna lift the stones
Which attack me with their madness
To begin to build a new world
Where there's no place for your violence

With your insensitive cold heart
Before the others' stories
You spent a million on a show
A modern roman circus

I am gonna lift the stones
Which attack me with their madness
To begin to build a new world
Where there's no place for your violence