

I'll Be For You

Her Bright Skies

Slow it down, take a breath and close your eyes
Hang on tight and don't look down.
Underneath it all, we're just the same, you and I,
So don't go telling me your fine.

I'll be the flowers that they place on your casket.
I'll be the love that we knew would never last, and
I'll be the moon when the last sun is setting.
I'll be for you.
I'll be for you.

So say the words "you're leaving and you won't come back"
At least I'm sure it can't get worse.
And when the last bit of hope has left you crawling alone,
I'm just someone you used to know.

But I'll be the flowers that they place on your casket.
I'll be the love that we knew would never last and
I'll be the moon when the last sun is setting.
I'll be for you.
I'll be for you.

Dreaming of the light, on 10th avenue
Alone in the darkness, it's my turn now.
And here I am lost, oh 10th avenue,
I see through the window, you are happy now.

And I'll be the flowers that you place on your casket.
I'll be the love that we knew would never last and,
I'll be the moon when the last sun is setting,
I'll be for you.
I'll be for you.
I'll be the flowers that they place on your casket.
I'll be the love that we knew would never last and,
I'll be the moon when the last sun is setting,
I'll be for you.
I'll be for you.
