

this is me letting go

Her Bright Skies

I am a seeker
I open my eyes and it's still
Dark when I feel it
It's like a trimmer but always leaves a scar

I hide from the night
Somewhere far away from home
Yet you know just where to find me

And now you've stolen all my daylight
And the night sky
How do you always escape me?
You never give, just take away
Tastes like
Little white lies
It's like you live to break me
I close my eyes and pray for sleep

I am a seeker
And maybe I could learn to love the dark
But when I see her
Take the fire, but can you leave a spark?

I wanna disappear
No voice to keep me company
Yet somehow you always find me

I had a dream about you tonight

And now you've stolen all my daylight
And the night sky
How do you always escape me?
You never give, just take away
Tastes like
Little white lies
It's like you live to break me
I close my eyes and pray for sleep
Pray for sleep

This is me letting go
Of everything I've ever done

And now you've stolen all my daylight
And the night sky
How do you always escape me?
You never give, just take away
Tastes like
Little white lies
It's like you live to break me
I close my eyes and pray for sleep

Daylight
And the night sky
It's like you live to break me
I close my eyes and pray for sleep
Pray for sleep
