

Beware The Darkness

Hexx

On a cold and gloomy night
Out in the shadows after light
Gazing o'er a ledge
All the mystic forest's edge

You're waiting there, without a care
As the night embraces you, you better beware...

You better hold on, you better hold on
You better take yourself away... Beware the Darkness

The evils brooding far below
Arise within the night
Like dancers in the afterglow
They shed an awful light

You're waiting there, without a care
As the night embraces you, you better beware...

You better hold on, you better hold on
You better find a place to hide... Beware the Darkness
Beware the darkness, it's falling behind you
You better find a place to hide... Beware the Darkness
BEWARE!!!!

You better hold on, you better hold on
You better find a place to run... Beware the Darkness
Beware the darkness, falling behind you
You better find a place to hide... Beware the Darkness

Beware the darkness, creeping behind you
If there is something you might scream...
(But no one answers in a dream)