Misery

Who's the stranger outside our door? Are you just friends or could it be more? How far will you go? How far will you go? She doesn't make it easy for you to ignore

You say you're sorry, before you go Never loved me, how could I know? How far did you go? How far did you go? It doesn't make a difference, now the book is closed

Hard to think twice. A moment of joy for such a high price Will be surprised what seem to be true there, not to be lies Now is a fate to live in a mess of the choices you made Left me alone, returned my heart and turned it to stone

Yes I'm alone, made of stone Girl, I'm alone Yes I'm alone, I'm made of stone Girl, I'm alone

Now she's left you, don't be surprised A dangerous movement drips with ice How far can it go? How far can it go? And now you look for comfort inside my eyes

Seekin' and feelin' deep in your bones No one to talk to, no place called home Now where will you go? Now where will you go? Fear controls your mind, and no return to stone

Hard to think twice... itd.

Yes I'm alone... itd.

And so my darling the story goes Hope is shattered, faith is gone There's nowhere to go. There's nowhere to go. Come back into my twisted, aching, empty arms

Now I'm the stranger outside your door We're not friends, no, It's so much more How far would I go? How far could I go? This isn't how the story was supposed to go.