

I See You Now

Hoku

I know we live in a fallen world
But when I try to make sense of the madness
I feel shaken and unsure
You're God, Your goodness I know is true
But I can't look into this darkness now
Without the ground beneath me falling through

You aren't bound by space or bound by time
You answered when you breathed life into me

You weren't waiting in the wings
You didn't come when I called out
You were with me all along
And I see you now
Out of the chaos and the dark you spoke order and love and light
You were with me all along
And I see you now
I see you now

I'll risk, I'll wrestle you til the dawn
Just to hold this love here for a moment
Just to join you in life's broken song

There's nowhere to hide

My softest sigh
You answered when you breathed life into me

You weren't waiting in the wings
You didn't come when I called out
You were with me all along
And I see you now
Out of the chaos and the dark you spoke order and love and light
You were with me all along
And I see you now

Every time I've cried, every time I've fallen
You've been there to cover me with Your love
Every breath I breathe is a testimony
You're been there to cover me with Your love

You weren't waiting in the wings
You didn't come when I called out
You were with me all along
And I see you now
Out of the chaos and the dark you spoke order and love and light
You were with me all along
And I see you now