

The Box

Holly McNarland

I had a box
A box that could talk
We looked inside and found
A yellow ribbon

So I took that box
For a long, long walk
And we had a talk
And went to look for a friend

And I had to eat you
We went shopping
The whole while talking
We fell upon a little egg
And the egg started talking

Could this be true
Have I really found you
To stop this box from talking
Well I must eat you

And I had to eat you
Have I really found you

The egg is terrified
But not to my surprise
But I had to stop him
This box from talking

So I said goodbye
And I see you both next time
And I'll be along my way
But the ribbons will always stay

And I had to eat you
Have I really found you
