

All That You Have

Home Grown

What if everything you had,
You had to give back?
Would you be the same?
I don't think you would
There's so many things that you don't appreciate
No!

All that you have
And have you ever really thought
About all that you've got
More than what you own
Your family and your friends
Without which you would be left here all alone
So when you're feeling down
Just take a look around
And look at all you have
And you'll see that things are really not that bad

All that you have
All that you have
Things aren't that bad
With all that you have
