

Everybody but You

Hootie & The Blowfish

When you walk in a room everything stops
And all eyes turn to you and every jaw drops
My friends keep on, keep on askin' what I did to make this happen
Why's a beauty queen standing here with me
Everybody sees, everybody knows

Everybody but you-oo-oo
Sees everything so different than you do-oo-oo
Thank God that you don't listen
When they say that you're too good for me and that you're way out of my league
That's okay as long as it stays true to everybody but you-oo-oo

I wish that I could say
You love me 'cause I'm funny or maybe for my brain
We know it ain't the money, no
The truth is, truth is you're the one with all the smarts and all the fun
I'm just a lucky man
Everybody understands

Everybody but you-oo-oo
Sees everything so different than you do-oo-oo
Thank God that you don't listen
When they say that you're too good for me and that you're way out of my league
That's okay as long as it stays true to everybody but you-oo-oo
Oh, everybody but you

Everybody sees it, everybody knows it's true
Everybody says it every time they're around me and you
Everybody sees it, everybody knows it's true
Everybody, everybody, everybody, yeah

Everybody but you-oo-oo
Sees everything so different than you do-oo-oo
Thank God that you don't listen
When they say that you're too good for me and I know you're way out of my league
That's okay as long as it stays true to everybody but you-oo-oo (everybody but you)
Oh, everybody but you-oo-oo (everybody but you)
Everybody but you-oo-oo (everybody but you)
Yeah, everybody but you
