fell in love with a crazy girl and now I'm not alone i never really had a heart i never even had a home

got me serving stateside shipped me overseas will i ever see my girl staring back at me

captivated by her style lip gloss n' broken wings i see the stars all in her eyes i wonder what she's wondering standing on this fault line this earthquake is shaking me will i ever see my girl staring back at me as typical as it may seem you've never seen the likes of a boy like me i want her more than anything

i have nothing,
n' she's something for me
