

Your Choices

Hotel Lights

no one's gonna screw you around spent years keeping part of yourself down you come around, you sell it now like it was always your intention gas station lights and salty air faded blue sky on the water feel a slip in your chest you just wanna understand your choices got you going over everything that you never did get this one right, so get gone to zero

see how you run
see how you run

now you're on the 101 driving through the hills that don't own you you wanna stay far away cause you don't know how to get closer after image, the colors went like headlights on a hotel wall tears are running through your hands you just want to understand

everything that you never did
to zero

you're still talking, she's already hung up you don't let the real you out plastic key ring for room 218 you're only waiting for a new start roll the words in your hand til the meaning shoots a shiver up your spine no where that you'll ever go will be far enough from where you were

to zero

see how you run
to zero
