

Your Eyes

House of Lords

When you found me I was lost in a dream
With a heart made of stone
All I was trying to find was someone to believe in
I was down on my own

Oh I remember falling apart at the seams
Oh that first time that I saw you

Your eyes, they give you away
They show all the passion
And reveal all the pain
Your eyes, they're calling my name
From deep inside, yeah

All my defences started drifted away
When you walked in the room
I couldn't speak but I had so much to say
You had me howlin' at the moon

Oh I remember falling apart at the seams
Oh that first time that I saw you

Your eyes, they give you away
They show all the passion
And reveal all the pain
Your eyes, they're calling my name
From deep inside, yeah

Oh I remember falling apart at the seams
Oh that first time that I saw you

Your eyes, they give you away
They show all the passion
And reveal all the pain
Your eyes, they're calling my name
From deep inside, yeah

Your eyes, they give you away
They show all the passion
And reveal all the pain
Your eyes, they're calling my name
From deep inside, yeah
When you found me I was lost in a dream