Hundred Reasons

Back when I secured couplings that settled on my good nature that could be found easier for when you open out so sin for me while you plead your goal you separate too long and wait for it while it turns to gold you separate too long and wait for it while it turns to gold you separate too long fragile how it's been complete you could always win forever you change now sober remember what you now waster sounds aloud taker once was proud and I would try to leave it sum it up per person you would never talk your way out of the sky.
