

We Were Right Together And We Were Wrong Together

I Call Fives

We've watched you sink
It's a little more than sad that you've lost all trust
It wasn't really all that bad
Now your eyes are pinned shut, and your tongue has been stuck
It's hard to see this end
Today I lost a friend

Long story short, we can see right through you
You don't know what you've gotten yourself into now

It's hard to make amends when you turn your back on your friend s
It's hard to make amends when you turn your back on them
It's hard to make amends when you turn your back on your friend
(You lost it all, you lost it all Things are never changing)
It's hard to make amends when you turn your back on them
(You lost it all, you lost it all)

You don't know what you've gotten yourself into So let's hear the excuse I won't believe
Tell me what I'm too blind to see What is more important than the people we're supposed to be?
