

Good Morning Sunlight

I Fight Dragons

Good morning sunlight, I can feel you on my back
I'll be alright, in spite of everything I lack
The sun came up, I can count on that

Good morning sunlight, I can feel you on my neck
Goodbye dark night, though I swear I won't forget
The sun came up and I'm not done yet

The night always feels so long
You start to think the sun might be gone
But light always finds a way
Mourning always brings a brand new day
No matter what your fears say

Good morning sunshine, I can feel you on my chest

Life is so fine, so why do I get so upset?
The sun comes up, how bad could it get?

The night always feels so long
You start to think the sun might be gone
But light always finds a way
Mourning always brings a brand new day
No matter what your fears say

Good morning sunlight. Though we only have the day
I will hold tight, try to always feel this way
The sun came up, and she's here to stay

The sun came up, and she's here to stay
The sun came up, and she's here to stay