

Where Are We Going To

I Voted For Kodos

You're asking me about myself
You're looking in my eyes
You're laughing at the stories I tell
You say you sympathize

Back at my place we lie on the couch
You like Sunday mornings, too
I'm wondering if it'll all work out
I'm wondering if you're something new

And you said you like to watch the stars
Early in the morning
Just when the sky is turning blue
And I said if Jupiter and Mars
Saw us lying here
They'd wonder just where we're going to

Where are we going to?

You shudder when you sleep at night
You touch me and you cry
I ask you if you feel alright
You said it's something deep inside

Is this just another summer fling?
Are you messing with my head?
I know when a girl said anything
You never know just what she's said

Where are we going to?
Where are we going to?
