

So High

Ian Brown

Bye bye, all the mercenaries
Bye bye, you sold your soul
So high, our beautiful eyes can see
How high, how far we've flown

Everything is in its place and
All is of its time
I think it's so funny I left you so far behind
You might have another story but I can see your smile
Money it don't buy you love, redemption, hope or style

Bye bye, all the mercenaries
Bye bye, you lost your soul
So high, our beautiful eyes can see
How high, how far we've flown

Made yourself a plan and they got a big surprise
Suddenly it's much too late and time has passed you by

Forget all the consequences, just sing me the truth
Aiming for the stars, then you're gonna hit the roof
You don't know if anybody's really by your side Until your back's against the wall with nowhere left to hide

Bye bye, all the mercenaries
Bye bye, you got no soul
So high, our beautiful eyes can see
So high, so high

So high, it's all a mystery to me
So high, so high
So high, yeah you gotta believe me
So high, so high...
