

Nuked From Orbit

If Hope Dies

We've placed a limit on our vision that blinds us to our future we can't see past the present to where our actions take us thi s is a game that's played for keeps no taking back what's said or done we have to understand that there's more than the here a nd now we're all connected in this life actions have consequenc es that echo through the ages a ripple made in water that turns into a wave somewhere down the line this will come back to hau nt us and time will remain indifferent to our regrets know that what we do truly matters, our decisions don't only affect us e very action has it's reaction think about the legacy you're cre ating this is a game that's played for keeps no taking back wha t's said or done we'll be buried below the weight of our mistak es