

The Darkness That Embrace Me

Immortal

Blackened earth before me
Creeping fog in my way
Lurking through the shadows
Of another day
My hearts the darkened one my
Soul on ice
Into the world before me
I stalk the night
But still I shall see
Blind me moons above me
In my time of wandering
Winter it will be
The higher mountains wait
I'm getting nearer
It's getting colder
The snow blows in my face
In our great winters land
In great king winters land
Hear clear voices of ice
There's seldom sun in sight
Through the biting wind
At the cold
Northern mountains
Wintery dreams
Horizoned in
At the cold
Cover the horizon
Northern mountains
But still I shall reach
The unending darkness that
Embraces me
Creeping fog in my way
Lurking through the shadows
Blackened earth before me
Of another day
My hearts the darkened one my
Soul on ice
Into the world before me
I stalk the night
