Beware Of The Devil

Impellitteri

Beware, beware of the devil

The devil looked into my eyes when I was seventeen He said, "I'll give you all the world if you will follow me." He dealt the cards, I drew the king, with this he was not pleas ed And then he raised the stakes when he said to me: (I am the dev il)

"I am the dealer, I've come for your soul Lay down your cards and I'll take control I will bet your life if you dare to try, my friend, The luck of the draw tonight"

The dealer tried to conquer me but I would not concede Now everything he offered me was tempting to believe I took a look inside my hand, I saw the royalty And then I called his bluff when he said to me: (I am the devil)

"I am the dealer, I've come for your soul Lay down your cards and I'll take control I will bet your life if you dare to try, my friend, The luck of the draw I am the dealer, I tell you no lies Show me your cards and fate will decide I will bet your life for eternity, my friend, The winner takes all tonight"

"I am the dealer, I've come for your soul Lay down your cards and I'll take control I will bet your life if you dare to try, my friend, The luck of the draw I am the dealer, I tell you no lies Show me your cards and fate will decide I will bet your life for eternity, my friend, The winner takes all"

"I am the dealer, I've come for your soul Lay down your cards and I'll take control I will bet your life if you dare to try, my friend, The luck of the draw I am the dealer, I tell you no lies Show me your cards and fate will decide I will bet your life for eternity, my friend, The winner takes all tonight"

Tištěno z pisnicky-akordy.cz