

Evil in a Closet

In Flames

We, were one in words
You, finished my sentence
I can never attract, tomorrow
It pushes me aside

I sink, in waters deep
Your presence kept me floating
Far from depths where secrets lie
Maybe in another lifetime
I could be the first you meet

I once read a poem
Held my breath
But that moment's gone
First time I felt, life somewhat hurts
I need an option, a reason, and some hope

Yell at me, I want to
Be your light that shines
But my ground is shaking and I might fall
I wish that I could say
I wish I could be your
Evil, Evil in a closet

Yell at me, I want to
Be your light that shines
But my ground is shaking and I might fall
I wish that I could say
I wish I could be your
Evil, Evil in a closet

Yell at me, I want to
Be your light that shines
But my ground is shaking and I might fall
I wish that I could say
I wish I could be your
Evil, Evil in a closet