I hear the threats and the criticisms but it's nothing to fear They can take their shots but it won't cause me to break Time will prove who's committed and who's a fake My concern, keeps me alive Sometimes words aren't enough Sometimes actions fall short Perseverance Sets us apart I can see your goal is to alienate me But someone so much worse can't get my best I guess you'll never put that negativity to rest These words, they are my strength Sometimes words aren't enough Sometimes actions fall short Perseverance Sets us apart Failure hurts but doesn't mean you tried any less My will to try, my conviction Won't settle for second fucking best Perseverance Sets us apart