

Dead Black Eyes

In Virtue

Deep and silent
Tidal current
Swallowing miles of shore
A shadow consuming the coastline
Mountains are islands and islands are no more

Swimming, lost in a nightmare
We're sinking off to sleep in a liquid grave
Search in vain for solid ground
Seven hundred fathoms down

There will be no survivors
Only corpses in the riptide

Mighty Poseidon will have his way

Cities lost in a deluge
Another sunken monument to the dead
All along the ocean floor
Everything you've ever known

There will be no survivors
Only victims in the feeding frenzy
There will be no deliverance
Only corpses in the worldwide red tide

Sea and sun
And no other
Here they come
Eyes of murder
We gave our hearts but it could not be saved
We'll lay the earth in a watery grave
And I'll sing a requiem for you
Of gnashing teeth and dead black eyes
And as the screams fall silent
Another species cauterized
We'll bleed into the water
And bleach beneath a blood red sun
No witness to the slaughter
But blackened eyes that overrun the world

All around you the water will rise
And the last thing you see will be
Dead black eyes

An endless horror awakened
A seething sea of Kraken
Something brushes past your feet
They don't come to hunt
They come to feed

Mouth of madness
Open wide
Face the horror deep inside
The belly of the beast

All around you the water will rise

Flooding the world with a vengeance
Coming towards you the blackest of eyes
A murderous gaze in the waves
Mighty Poseidon will have his way
Taking the earth as his kingdom
Only oceans to mark where we lay
And circling fins for a gravestone

All around you the water will rise
There will be no survivors
