

Save Me

Indecision

where did you go and where were you running to how could you not know I would come after you this comes and goes in waves and in spirals nothing is permanent - nothing is final

Save me

and so you asked but why should I answer you that's one thing I never told anyone because I'm saving that for when the end comes
save me

save me from the great white noise save me from the spirals and the tides save me from the passage of time and save me from what I've done to myself
