

November

Infected Rain

Polishing everything until it shines
Including me
Erasing the immaculate lies
Surrounding me

Another country, another city
I'm on the stage, ignoring my heartbeat
Another country, another city
Swallowing emotions, feeling guilty!

Another year, another November
Spit and sweat drowning my anger
Another year, another November
The past cannot remain buried forever!

Guilty for choosing this instead of that
Beckoned by the cry of the sirens
Hiding from the father of lies
Learning to feel at home with the silence

Another country, another city
I'm on the stage, ignoring my heartbeat
Another country, another city
Swallowing emotions, feeling guilty!

Another year, another November
Spit and sweat drowning my anger
Another year, another November
The past cannot remain buried forever!

Polishing everything
Including me
Erasing the lies
Surrounding me