

I Watch The Blood Forever

Inner Fear

Nothingness, finally, turned to obsessive belief

Flashing lights
The impulse strikes the frames again
Empty sights
Reanimating dreams away
My only patterns are the thoughts I ruin by myself
And watching blood - the motion that my soul obey

Wake the disease
It doesn't hurt, the cure is so spiteful
Take it with ease

But preeminent agony - icons to pray
Send me the image before I awake

Endless pain
For I've been struggling through my way back home
In my veins
I can't deny the blessings overcome
Crawling shadows are the beings we're never able to detach
Watching blood - the pleasure I adore too much

Wake the disease
It doesn't hurt, the cure is so spiteful Take it with ease

And preeminent agony, icons to pray
Send me the image before it's too late

Nothingness, finally turned

It's just a dream but I'm over you
Believing's so useless
Betrayal vision's not coming true
Denial between us

These wounds you've granted me would not sustain the fight
Deprave my vision, while the script is staying even Like inspiration fading, rising, coincide
They always let me breathe for living

It doesn't hurt' the cure is so spiteful
Take it with ease

And preeminent agony, icons to pray
Send me the image before I awake
