

Now I See

Intohimo

That I never have seen
I never seen your face
I always wonder who you are
I always search for something new
I try to hide from this life
Away from myself

I try to fly away to nothing
Away from my soul
Away from this life like something is so terribly wrong

I have always tried to hide
I have always tried to fade away
From the deepest of my mind
The deepest of my heart
Look at my eyes look at my face
I cry I cry
Look at my soul, it's bleeding
Can't somebody hear my screams?

I have always tried to be so perfect looking down at other people
It hurts so much
I hurt myself

I think that my life is so meaningless
I will die here and now
But a feeling in my heart, a face I can not see feel like it cares about me

Show your face I scream
Show your face I cry

I can see a light it shines so strong
Now I see your face
Now I feel your love
Now I feel whole again
I never felt like this before
You've shown your face