

I Always Never Said That

Iron Chic

Life is weird but were together here
So what's the use in being normal
Burn the village and take what's left
Do the things that we've been doing to death.
Taking things too seriously
That's a motherfucking time bomb
So bite the bullet and take a breath
Look at me I'll be laughing to death
If I hear another word about a better place
I'll paint these walls with my fucking brains
You say I wouldn't but if I did you don't think I'd go to hell for it
I agree and then we laugh
A cosmic joke or a master plan?
The best part of it is Either way we couldn't give a shit.
There's no answers, so take a guess and make up the rest.
I may start to reminisce about better days
Or the obliteration of the human race
If it never fucking ends
I can't begin to make sense of it
So let's agree we'll always laugh
Not miss the joke and do what we can
To take it all with a grin
And not be so fucking humorless