

In One Ear

Iron Chic

Is the song worth singing
When there's no one listening?
You know the words
You know they hurt
But you know they're right
When you got the urge
You thought you were the first
But you will never be first at anything
Are your ears still ringing?
Are the wounds still stinging?
You know the words
You know every verse
You know what's right
That's what makes this worse
So fucking absurd
You have never been so sure about anything