

Had it all planned
We were meant to be
Slowly sinking in the sand
Unable to feel free
Misguided hearts
Lost in illusions together
Assigned from the gods
With blinded eyes
Love dies

Standing at the crossroad
I don't know where to turn
Standing at the crossroad
I know my soul will forever burn
I'm the guilty one
Yes I know

Had to let it go
The rope around my neck
No one will ever know
How sanity turned sick
I left you behind
In the shadows of my mind
Now is up to you to find
Another door
That will bring you more

Standing at the crossroad
I don't know where to turn
Standing at the crossroad
I know my soul will forever burn
I'm the guilty one
Yes I know

It's alright to be afraid
It's alright you're feeling hate
When luck has turned you down
It's okay to crash and burn
There's no way we'll ever learn
To understand the meaning of it all