

Judgement Day

Iron Fire

Feels like I've been down on this road
One too many times
And here I'm standing on my own
With only memories remain
It was a time where all we had
Was music and brotherhood
Never thought on growing up
Never thought of getting old

Those days are gone
Those years are far away
Staying up until dawn
Please bring me back onto the path

On Judgement Day
I believe for you and me
The sun will rise again
I have received a call from the grave
From you my friend
On Judgement Day, I swear an oath
That no matter what
Forever until the end
I know we can find a way
Before Judgement Day

I guess the clock was running out
Cause time waits for no man
Had more than we could ask for
Lived a life in black and white
And in the mistful morning
Fantasized of fortune and fame
Never thought on breaking up
Never thought of falling down

Those days are gone
Those years are far away
Staying up until dawn
Please bring me back onto the path

On Judgement Day
I believe for you and me
The sun will rise again
I have received a call from the grave
From you my friend
On Judgement Day, I swear an oath
That no matter what
Forever until the end
I know we can find a way
Before Judgement Day

Reinvent the time machine
A quick ascent from the crime scene
Recreate the world without hate
And bring back to 98
Bring me back

Those days are gone

Those years are far away
Please bring me back onto the path

On Judgement Day
I believe for you and me
From you my friend
On Judgement Day, I swear an oath
Before Judgement Day

For you and me the sun will rise again
Judgement Day, bring me back to 98
