Holy War

You choose to follow evil You think your life is so pure I know you've lost your mind, prisoner of illusion In the name of god you're killing, You will be king in heaven You preach the bad words to the children of this world I just want to be free I'll always be the master of my life and destiny Your heart is so black; committing all these crimes, You stab a knife right in my back

Holy war, Holy war Tell me what you're fighting for Do you want to fight eternally? Holy war, Holy war You won't find what you're raging for The whole world is your enemy. (Holy War)

You are the mask of Satan, the sword of evil on earth Invasion is your first wish, leading all these fools And I just want to break you You are the force to be stopped Don't ever cross my frontier; I will hunt you down I just want to be free I'll always be the master of my life and destiny Your heart is so black; committing all these crimes, You stab a knife right in my back

Holy war, Holy war Tell me what you're fighting for Do you want to fight eternally? Holy war, Holy war You won't find what you're raging for The whole world is your enemy. (Holy War)
