

Eye Of The Storm

Isaac Hayes

Hey, baby, I've got the prediction for you and me
Barometric pressure is suddenly falling
And the atmosphere is charged with electricity
Laws of passion unfolding
Raindrops of love are starting to fall
When love desire is gusting very very slow

You and I in the eye of the storm
It's so wild, gets so mild in your arms
Yeah, yeah

I'm glad you chose shelter
Here in my arms
It's not only thunder that you're hearing
It's the heavy, heavy beating of my heart
Your eyes are dancing like lightning across the evening sky
Being with you is so exciting and you know why

You and I in the eye of the storm
It's so wild, gets so mild in your arms

There's something about a rainy day
That makes you just want to lay
Confined to the space where the loving takes place
Rain, rain, don't you go away

'Cause you and I in the eye of the storm
It's so wild, gets so mild in your arms
You and I in the eye of the storm
It's so wild, gets so mild in your arms