

How's The Weather Back Home

Itchy Poopzkid

How's the weather back home
Are the clouds still up and grey
Here the sun is shining we're on our way
We are going places
We will leave the world behind
After all these years I'm finally aligned

But I begin to doubt
Coz I thought I knew what we were all about
But I am wrong
I'm always wrong
I was sure to find a life
Sure to find a friend
But here I am I'm all alone again

Another time, another place, another you
Another reason for my heart to break in two
Another person wouldn't ever go back through
But I do

How's the weather back home
Are you always gonna stay
And see the same old faces everyday
We are going places
And the two us are one
We are on our way into the sun

But I begin to doubt
Coz I thought I knew what we were all about
But I am wrong
I'm always wrong
I was sure to find a life
Sure to find a friend
But here I am I'm all alone again

Another time, another place, another you
Another reason for my heart to break in two
Another person wouldn't ever go back through
But I do

My whole life repeats itself again
I already know how it will end
You need to let me burn
Eventually I learn
Someone tell me when

Another time, another place, another you
Another reason for my heart to break in two
Another person wouldn't ever go back through
Another time, another place, another you
Another reason for my heart to break in two
Another person wouldn't ever go back through
But I do
But I do