Deeper Ground

To find the answer To find the reason for To know the difference Why you closed the door And who can tell you What's ,wrong or right inside

Someone in the cellar Someone on your back You one fortune teller There are things you can't forget You found out that life's so simple So simple but only for you So what is the reason Why you can't stand it Need another hand to hold The coldness of a word Like you never felt before A chapter, full of spies Two souls, one strange mind

To see you To know you To feel you deep inside Is a laughter behind

Over the highest mountain Sink into fire deepest ground falling Into deeper ground Falling there's no rebound Memories are crying As you look to the sky Teardrops are falling While you hide deep inside Choose life or call the dead Scream the only name A ticket to ride to a world beyond Where only the man knows it's name There's no truth There' only you Don't be again so blind Just use your only mind
