You got back this morning, sometime around ten Said you won't, then you go and do it again Hmmm, and now I don't trust us, can't hear what you say Cause I know what you'll do to get your way

Oh, sometimes the one that you think that you love, turns out to be a fake
I hope you're happy for all of the misery you've made
I hope you're happy for all of the misery you've made
And I hope it follows you down to your grave
You're gonna carry that weight, carry that weight
You're gonna carry that weight for all the misery you've made (oh, baby)

Go on and tell me that story, sliding rot through your teeth But you got someone else all over your sleeve, hey Stop tryna be clever, we both know you're not Only act like you care cause you got caught

Oh, sometimes the one that you think that you love, turns out to be a fake

I hope you're happy for all of the misery you've made
I hope you're happy for all of the misery you've made
And I hope it follows you down to your grave
You're gonna carry that weight, carry that weight
You're gonna carry that weight for all the misery you've made
The misery you've made, the misery you've made (oh)
The misery you've made